ORIGIN AND FUTURE

Founded in 1993 in St. Louis by a group of Chinese and American businessmen with initial funding from its Directors and several major corporations, United States of America-China Chamber of Commerce has evolved and grown into a well recognized non-profit, bi-national membership organization with representation in major cities both in the U.S. and China. With a membership of over 350 corporations and professionals, USCCC has broadened its reach through the additions of new members as well as participation of companies and professionals from various parts of the world. USCCC also works with other organizations and government entities of other nations to promote trade and investment activities among the U.S., China, and other countries with an emphasis on emerging economies.

MISSION

United States of America-China Chamber of Commerce is a not-for-profit, bi-national membership organization dedicated to developing increased U.S.-China trade and investment activities by assisting American and Chinese companies, professionals and the general public to better understand the business environment and cultural traditions relevant to successfully doing business in both countries. USCCC conducts a wide range of activities: such as seminars, conferences, workshops, executive briefings, trade missions and networking events. These activities facilitate a deeper understanding of the technological, economic, financial, demographic and cultural trends that are critical for successful economic development between the U.S. and China. USCCC also aids both American and Chinese companies in locating business partners for trade and investments, and provides important governmental and business introductions for companies of all sizes in the U.S. and in China.

CONTACTS, NETWORKING AND BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

Believing that most successful business ventures are built on trust and trust can only be developed through “guanxi” or “relationship,” United States of America-China Chamber of Commerce strives to facilitate the development of this important element for both US and Chinese companies. Throughout the years, the Chamber has organized a series of networking receptions, investment forums, trade missions and other related activities. Perhaps among all those things that the USCCC has done, its most significant contribution is, through its Board of Directors and a network of contacts, providing its members and the business communities in both countries with direct access to business leaders and government officials who are essential in their business development efforts.

President George Bush, Siva Yam, President of USCCC and the late Prescott Bush, Founder and Chairman Emeritus of USCCC

The Honorable Ren Wenyan, Vice Chairman of People's Congress in Shanghai discussed with Siva Yam how the two organizations could work together.
