

MISSION

USCCC is dedicated to developing increased U.S.-China trade and investment activities by assisting American and Asian companies, professionals, and the general public to better understand the business environment and cultural traditions relevant to successfully doing business in both countries. It conducts a wide range of activities: such as seminars, conferences, workshops, executive briefings, trade missions and networking events. These activities facilitate a deeper understanding of the technological, economic, financial, and cultural trends that are critical for successful economic development between the U.S. and China. USCCC also aids both American and Chinese companies in locating business partners for trade and investments and provides important governmental and business introductions for companies of all sizes in the U.S. and in China.

What do they say about us?

“My late brother, Prescott, took pride in being a part of the Chamber’s success story, as do I.” – the late President George H. W. Bush

“The Chamber works with small and medium sized companies across America and China to encourage entrepreneurship and economic growth; and ... The hard work, sacrifice and dedication of Siva Yam serves as an example to all ...” – The Honorable Rahm Emanuel, former Mayor of Chicago

“Bridge U.S.-China Business ... Bridging the Worldwide Business Gap ... Siva Yam knows business ...” – China Daily

“... American companies seeking advice on operating there often seek out Chicago investment banker, Siva Yam ...” – Investor’s Business Daily

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA-CHINA CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Founded in 1993 by the late Prescott Sheldon Bush, Jr., U.S.-China Chamber of Commerce (“USCCC”) has evolved into one of largest business associations with an extensive network that focuses on U.S.-Greater China investment and trade activities. It has assisted many companies and professionals in conducting successful cross border business transactions for 30 years.

As the world’s economy is increasingly globalized and certain economies, notably Vietnam and the Philippines, are growing rapidly, USCCC has expanded its reach and network. It has opened an office in Vietnam and has formed a strategic alliance with the government of the Philippines to further opportunities for U.S. companies, entrepreneurs, and professionals.

KNOWLEDGE, INFORMATION

USCCC strives to provide its members and the general public with information that is current and important in making critical business decisions. It continuously identifies the most timely topics in our ever-changing, digitalized global economy and invites business executives and professionals with first-hand experience to address these topics from different perspectives. While there might be more than one resolution to a single problem, USCCC hosts a variety of programs such as conferences, seminars, investment forums, town hall meetings, and others to look at different issues as objectively and as practically as possible.

CONTACTS, NETWORKING AND BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

Believing that most successful business ventures are built on trust and trust can only be developed through “relationship,” USCCC strives to facilitate the development of this important element for both US and Chinese companies. Throughout the years, it has organized a series of networking receptions, investment forums, trade missions and other related activities. Perhaps among all those things that the USCCC has done, its most significant contribution is, through its network of contacts, providing its members and the business communities in both countries with direct access to business leaders and government officials who are essential in their business development efforts.
