NeuQuality International Products was established in 2006 in Wisconsin USA as an extension of our manufacturing plant partners located overseas in order to better serve our customers in the United States of America.

NeuQuality International Products is a single-source contract manufacturer of castings, forgings, machined parts, assemblies, fasteners, LED, plastics, and other products and components. NeuQuality also provides expert additional services such as quality management and inspection using our in-country native personnel.

NeuQuality uses our unique Discovery Phase Knowledge Exchange process to listen, discuss, gain agreement, & then supply products, components, and services to meet your requirements.

We have excelled in the challenges of today's rapidly changing manufacturing marketplace by implementing continuous improvements in vendor processes, capabilities, quality control, engineering & productivity.

We support your most demanding applications from short runs to high volume production runs. We supply per order or to blanket orders and provide services such as delivery of JIT components using methods such as KANBAN systems. We can also warehouse and perform light assembly in our Asian partner factories and our Wisconsin USA facility.

Contact us to develop the solution to the challenges your company is facing such as cost competition, quality products, new product introductions and supply chain management.
